

We are seeking a writer to create a detailed, long-form guide (~3,000 words) on how to use American credit cards and rewards programs for cheap/free travel. A detailed template for the guide will be provided to the successful applicant.

The author must have in-depth, current knowledge of the best credit cards and rewards programs in the U.S. This includes a broad knowledge base on the various ways to accrue points quickly, tips on how to best redeem them, and so on. Lastly, the writer must be able to write succinctly with the use of headings and sections to create a digestible piece.

Professional writing experience ideal, including articles on other blogs.

If interested in applying, please e-mail send 2-3 published articles or blog posts in this topic area. Depending on the outcome of the post, this may result in several subsequent pieces of work on this topic.